

“READ ACROSS AMERICA”

March 3, 2008

BOOKS FOR BABIES

March 2nd is Dr. Seuss’s birthday- his 104th to be exact! Join the Hanover Teachers’ Association in celebrating by donating a book to a newborn at South Shore Hospital. There is no better way to honor Dr. Seuss and promote literacy. It is our goal to instill a lifelong love of reading and teach children from a very early age that reading is special and fun! So don’t miss out on the PURRfect opportunity to pass on this important message. Let’s work together to motivate families to read to their children by providing them with one of their first books!

Last year we, along with local families, community groups, and businesses donated hundreds of books. Please consider joining this year’s drive by donating a book. Storybook Cove in Merchant’s Row is even offering a 20% off discount to customers who mention that they are purchasing “Books for Babies”!

If you would like to participate in this program by contributing a new children’s book, please return this form with your book(s) to any Hanover public school office or to the John Curtis Library between February 1st and March 31, 2008. Books will be delivered to the hospital throughout the month of March. Each donation will include a bookplate recognizing the donor, the Hanover Teachers’ Association, and the South Shore Hospital.

Books will be collected until the end of March.

Thank you!
