

I love my teachers, each and every one. But when the word “teachers” is used, it is not specific to just teachers at school. They could mean teachers at home, or just people you look up to that teach you things.

Teachers are people that teach you important life skills in order to prepare you for the world. So if you say your mom is a great teacher, that means that she is great at preparing you for life’s amazing opportunities.

Thank you teachers for preparing us for the future, and beyond. Soon we will tell our next generation what our teachers taught us.
